of them sighed, "Awww raspberries"--(he was imitating the favorite slang expression of the cute little kids in the old movies called "The Little Rascals.") When the other guys heard the word "raspberries" they just knew instantly that they had found their name--and The Raspberries musical group was created! Cute, huh!

The Four Leaves is the top Japanese group who's got all of Japan rockin' and rollin' with their music! They're really charming guys--and guess what? For the first time in my journalistic career I interviewed them through an interpretor--whoopie, I felt so "sophisticated!" The four guys don't speak a lot of English, so I asked the questions & their lady interpretor told me their answers. It was just wild--and we had sooo much fun!

Visited the Partridge set before they went on hiatus and David Cassidy told me his vacation plans. He's planning on spending some time in Hawaii, Europe, and getting in some snow skiing somewhere. But most important of all, he's promised to do an exclusive photo shooting for FaVe--so keep your eyes peeled for the outasite new pix of David that will be appearing soon--ok?

Darn! Out of room again already and I've barely begun to tell you all about the exciting things that have been happening--got an idea, tune in here next issue and I'll tell you more! 'Til next time, drop me a line or two--I love getting letters from you!

Love, Liz

YOUR LOVE"

fans are to me, and my work, too!"

Sam nodded, and neither of them spoke for a few minutes.

David calmed down a little and got up to go into his bedroom. Laying on the bed, he stared up at the ceiling and frowned once more. Wouldn't you think that someone who loved you would want you to be happy? And how could he be really happy if he wasn't doing what he liked--singing and acting and making his fans happy?

After David had thought about it, he came to realize that most of his fans didn't write letters like that... most of them knew how much he enjoyed what he was doing. If David were to meet a fan and date her, she wouldn't be possessive about him! She'd gladly share David with his fans because she'd know that his feeling for his fans wouldn't interfere with his feelings for her! And, if she would start placing restrictions on him, telling him where to be and who to talk to, David wouldn't want her love--because that's not love at all!

What about you? Do you love David enough to let him be himself and do the things that are important to him? Be honest... could you really share David? Do you really think so? You do? Good--because David's looking for a girl just like YOU!
