

A Partridge On A Bear Spree!

"A human in a bear suit? You wouldn't kid me about that, would you?"

That was what David Cassidy was last summer when the Partridge Family filmed a segment at the Kings Island amusement park outside Cincinnati.

The park features a roving bunch of Hanna-Barbera TV cartoon bears, and in the scene you see here the bears are preparing to dance with the Partridges in a scene in the show.

Not only did David find the bears to be terrific actors (maybe "bear-faced hams" would be a better description!) but their large bodies made them friendly shields which kept David from being squashed by the enthusiastic fans who were watching the filming in the park!
