things about david

14. TV hasn't made David smile much lately. The comedy shows just haven't seemed so funny to him, the movies are so stale and even cartoons are a drag. He does enjoy the nature programs and the documentaries.

15. Where's the place David goes now whenever he can? You'd probably never guess—it's the zoo! He's just really become turned on to all the far-out animals and has even tried to see the zoos in some of the big cities he's traveled to. One place he hasn't seen, and really wants to, is the Washington, D.C., zoo where you can see the panda bears from China.

16. When David first moved into his Spanish ranch house in the Valley, he wanted to fill the place with antiques and heavy authentic Spanish furniture. Lately he's been digging super modern furniture. So, what he's decided to do is not buy anything. He figures he'll wait until his mind is a little more clear before he fills a house with furniture. Good idea!

17. Ever since David made his trip to England he's been hooked on tea. However, he goes to great lengths to duplicate their tea. So much so, he has it sent over from England in large quantities, because he can't find tea here to match its unique flavor. So, everyday he starts the morning with a cup of English Breakfast Tea with milk and honey.

18. For years David always thought playing cards was a complete bore! Then... Sam taught him to play Gin Rummy and they've had a running game ever since. They keep the scores pretty close, but at last count David was leading!

19. Generosity is something David was never really able to show in years past. How can you buy someone even the littlest present or be thoughtful when you're broke? It's pretty hard. But he has worked hard and made money and now he can really show his generosity to family, friends and fans. It makes him feel good to be able to express his generosity whenever he feels like it, in any way he wants.

20. While he's always had an avid interest in photography, David has never really had a chance to study it. This year he's hoping to find time to take a class in photography to improve his picture-taking abilities, but also to learn to develop and print his own film. So many unusual things can be done after a picture has been taken, David wants to learn that end of it too. Then he wants to build his own darkroom!

21. David's ideas of life, love and happiness have been changing as he grows older. In his own mind he sees his settling down days coming into view. He's still looking for the one girl to share his life and when he finds her he knows his life will be complete.
