

David Cassidy MOVES To London For Love Of ENGLISH FANS!

David Cassidy, ex-USA teeny-bop idol, is planning a move! No, he isn't going to Hawaii to live as everyone assumed he would. He's going much farther — to England!

Some people felt his decision to move was based on his break up with Meredith Baxter (who just married her "Bridget Loves Bernie" co-star David Birney), some figured it was because he's finally finished with "Partridge Family" and some say he's running from a faltering career in America.

The truth of the age-bubblegum-idol image. As a result he lost his following here!

David was so sure that he didn't want to be a teenage idol. But, David just completed a very successful European tour — complete with screaming fans, posters and shrieks for "Keith Partridge!"

What's happening in England and Europe for David happened here two years ago! David shunned his American fans then, but in the past year, has he realized what he gave up? Could he be moving to England to be closer to hysteria, devotion and love "young" fans offer because older ones aren't interested? Just wait & see.

matter is, that David isn't running from anything, but rather to something. What is that? The love of the English teenager.

David's popularity with the young American teenage girl sunk to an all-time low after he appeared in the nude in a rock magazine and proclaimed his dislike of a teen-