

Hi all!

Don't know if you've ever had one of those funny feelings that something good's going to happen, but I sure have. Now that my tour's starting and all my new musical plans going on inside my head, I really feel that this is going to be a fun and exciting year for me. I hope you'll all be sharing this feeling with me as I certainly won't be able to make it all happen without you!

Q. How many letters do you receive every week for the 'Ask David Anything' page?—Marie Lindley, Co. Durham.

David's personal answer: Actually it varies from week to week. In the beginning, the Mirabelle offices were literally swamped with letters, but over the months as the more obvious questions have been answered, the mail has dwindled a bit. While the questions are certainly more interesting now, it still must be costing Mirabelle a small fortune to send me those couple of hundred letters that arrive every week!

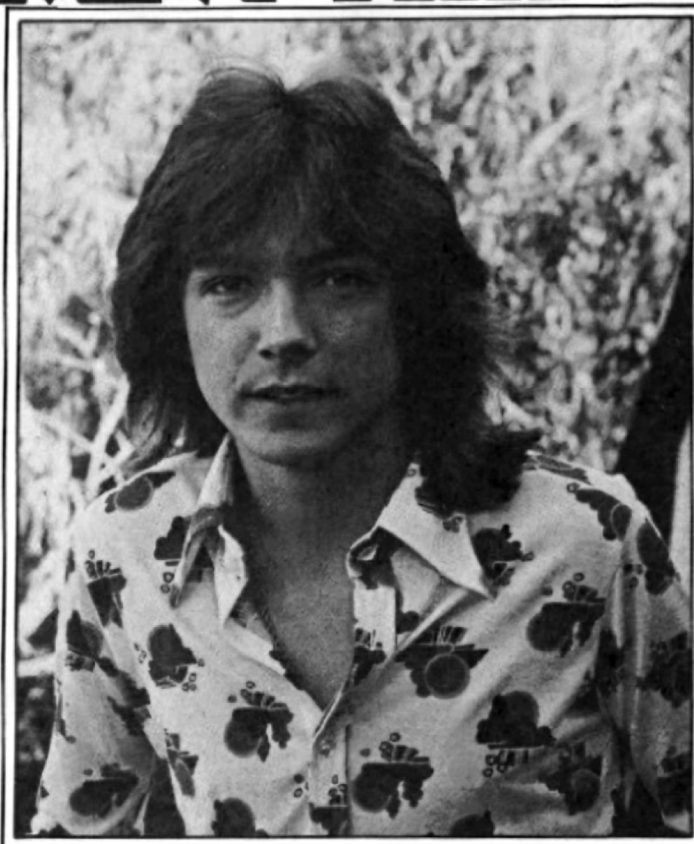

Q. How many Valentine cards did you receive this year? And what does this day mean to you? Also, why don't you do some water skiing over here sometime? You'll always be welcomed with open arms!—Sally Fox, Channel Islands.

David's personal answer: Many thanks for your generous invite! You never know when I may take you up on it. Unfortunately, I won't have much time for vacations this year, but maybe next year I'll come your way. As for Valentine's Day I received thousands of cards from all over the world this year which was really a great thrill. It's interesting to see how the cards vary from country to country. I really appreciated receiving them all. I think of Valentine's Day as a fun day to send cards, heartshaped boxes of candy and flowers to all my female friends rather than take it all very seriously. Of course, that might just be because I don't have anyone really special in my life right now. But even if I did,

ASK DAVID ANYTHING

I certainly wouldn't set aside just one day of the year to let her know my feelings towards her!

Q. You said you stopped dating Susan Dey because you both worked together. When you leave The Partridge Family would you consider dating her again?

David's personal answer: I really doubt that very much. When I first met Susan I was really knocked out by her. But we both found it very difficult to date someone you have to work so closely with every day. Since Susan and I have stopped dating, we have developed a very close friendship, almost like a real brother and sister relationship. Now that our friendship has reached that level, I would find it very difficult to change it back again to a romantic one. I might feel like I really was taking my sister out! Still, I believe we will remain the best of friends even now that I've left the show.

Well, it looks like I've got to say goodbye to you all again—but as I'm in the writing mood I think I'll get down on paper one of those songs that's buzzing around in my head.

ALL MY LOVE,

at it!

visit her in the block of flats where she lives with her family, and whilst I was waiting for her to answer the main door to the building two very dishy guys joined me on

Want to win £1? Write any original letter to us and if you're lucky enough to have it printed on this page, the money will be on its way to you!...

the step. They had come to visit some friends on the fifth floor, and my friend lives on the fourth. When my friend answered the door she found the three of us chatting away, and she began to lead us all up the stairs to her flat.

Then when we got to her floor the two boys carried on walking up the next flight of stairs. My friend, assuming that the boys were with me, then called up to them: "Hey, you're going too far up, I live here." Then, when they looked puzzled and didn't answer she yelled: "Well, are you coming or aren't you?" They thought she was crazy, and just looked down at us in amazement. When I finally got her to understand the boys weren't with me, she just burst out laughing—and made me see the funny side of the situation, too!

Jane Lee, London.

© IPC MAGAZINES LTD.
1974

P.O. Box 21, Tower House,
8/14 Southampton Street,
London, WC2E 9QX

All prices and information in this issue are correct at time of going to press.