A TOUCH OF STARDUST

THE Southern Cross Hotel — the site of TV WEEK's Logie Awards — could have been mistaken for Hollywood in its former days of glory.

Everywhere you looked there were international stars . . . Gina Lollobrigida, Macdonald Carey, David Cassidy and Tige Andrews.

And mingled among them were local performers of the calibre of Graham Kennedy, Ernie Sigley, Barbara Rogers, Leonard Teale, Pat McDonald and dozens of others.

It was an autograph hunter's paradise and the stars were all willing to oblige.

"This is truly the greatest television event of the year," said Bert Newton, the compere of the night's event. #
