

David-Out Of Touch With You?

A lot has been said about "today's" David Cassidy. His lifestyle is totally changed and he's really concentrating on getting things together in a new and special way. A very personal way. But can the rumors that he's "forgotten" his fans be really true?

For a long time, David Cassidy was doing things he didn't want to do.

He didn't know all along that The Partridge Family was getting to be a drag for him or that touring was more of a drain than anything else. All he knew was that something was very wrong with the way his life was going.

And he knew he was more and more unhappy every day.

When things began to get clearer for him, David understood that there had to be changes made—and made quickly! So he went ahead and did just that!

MAIL POURS IN!

When the fans saw how David was re-arranging things, many of them panicked! Letters poured in to David begging him not to leave his fans or ignore them—or forget them! One letter in particular upset David very much. It read:

"Dear David: I know every person has a right to make changes in his life but no one should ever forget the people who have loved and supported him all along! Why are you closing yourself off like this? Why are you hiding from the people who care? David—I can't believe that you would want to break my heart, but this is what is happening. I cry every night at the thought of losing you!"

"IT ISN'T TRUE!"

David is very upset that some of his fans misunderstand his intentions. He told FLIP in an exclusive interview that "all those rumors about my not having any more time for my fans and not caring about them at all just aren't true! My fans mean everything to me! I only hope they can understand the changes I am going through and want to stay by me!"

UP TO YOU!

So, the fact is that David isn't moving out of touch with his fans! But some of his fans are moving out of touch with him! They don't understand that his need to become a somewhat different person has nothing to do with his feeling for the people who care about him! David still loves his fans and no matter what changes, that never will!!!
