"The craziest dream I ever had was kind of a funny nightmare. I'm real scared of fires so I dream about them a lot. Once I dreamed that a fire started in my house and I smelled smoke and ran into the living room and saw what was happening! Suddenly that part of the fire that was burning up our color TV set started looking like a human torch and it said to me: 'Man you grab your things and git outta here—I'll give you time to split, man, but go!' I ran like heck!"

CHRIS KNIGHT

"I'm a little embarrassed to tell you about my craziest dream—in fact I blush just thinking about it! But I dreamed one night after we all came back from our European trip that I was back in London in one of the really busy areas called Picadilly Circus. All of a sudden I noticed everyone staring at me! Lo and behold—I've got no clothes on! So I just ran away—becoming the world's first streaking dreamer!"

TONY DeFRANCO

"When I was very young I used to love stories about friendly little trains like 'Toodles' and 'Puff 'n Toot.' The first time I visited the New York subways as a kid I learned that trains could be loud, fierce, scary things, too! Then one night I dreamed that I fell on the subway tracks and I was so scared I couldn't move—and a train was coming! But guess what? It was only a dumb old 'choo-choo' train and it slowed down and let me hop aboard for the rest of the ride!"

RICHARD THOMAS

"I had a dream that I was lost in a magical maze and the only way I could get out of it was to swallow a soft boiled egg whole! Needless to say I spent the whole night in that crazy maze!"

DAVID CASSIDY

"I dreamed that I was getting married in a far off country a long time ago and according to their strange customs, I couldn't see the bride's face until after the ceremony—so I really didn't know what I was getting into! Finally, after the wedding, the magic moment comes and I go to take off her veil and look at my bride for the first time and—what do you think? I woke up before I could get a look at her!"

ALICE COOPER

"I had this dream a long time ago. I dreamed I did something to hurt my snake's feelings—I don't remember what—and he wouldn't talk to me, look at me or anything! It was terrible! Finally I promised to make him an important part of my next act—and we were pals again!"
