

David Cassidy In Salt Lake

Will David Cassidy ever replace Bobby Sherman in the hearts of the sub-teen culture of America? That seems to be the big question surrounding the career of the star of TV's "The Partridge Family" (or television's answer to the Cowsills). Right now it seems that the 21-year-old Cassidy is on the rise and that Bobby has hit his peak in the race for the youth market dollar.

Supported by a super-hype ad campaign and two multi-million selling singles David Cassidy is making the rounds of the concert circuit now that the "Partridge Family" is out of production and doing rather well at it. We'll be able to see for ourselves June 12th when David Cassidy comes to the Salt Palace.
