

There's A Partridge In The Family Tree

"The Partridge Family", the family rock group of television fame, is the newest branch of the Kate Greenaway family tree. The relationship between the two comes via Kate Greenaway's newly introduced "Partridge Family Collection" of fashions for little girls from two to twelve.

Fashions from the collection are frequently worn by Suzanne Crough and Susan Dey who are better known to their fans as Tracy and Laurie Partridge. Many of the styles are directly identifiable with the show, such as the adaptations of the uniform worn by these sisters when they perform professionally.

Jens, dresses and jumpers are printed with the psychedelic bus which the family uses to travel from one concert engagement to another. The all-popular jean is also styled in solid or striped denims featuring a Partridge Family emblem at the knee or a Partridge Family tab sewn into the back yoke.

The jeans are designed to be worn with long or short sleeve body suits or mini-floral printed shirts which are all marked with a partridge medallion.

Party dresses styled in seersucker stripes and voiles and designed in short and maxi lengths are also an important part of the collection.

The fashions are available at leading stores throughout the country and all bear a picture hangtag featuring David Cassidy, Suzanne Crough and Susan Dey that you'll surely want to keep.

THE PARTRIDGE FAMILY'S favorite mode of transportation is a psychedelic bus. Their bus is translated here in bright shades of red, navy and yellow on white denim for the all-popular jean which is topped with the important St. Tropez body suit bearing the Partridge medallion from Kate Greenaway's Family Collection.

SUZANNE CROUGH, better known to millions of TV fans as Tracy Partridge, pauses on the set of the Partridge Family to show off her favorite maxi for Spring designed by Kate Greenaway. White voile over turquoise and white gingham are used to create the mock pinafore.

ORANGY RED and navy stripes make the rounds for Spring on this yoked voile dress which is destined to be an Easter Parade favorite...from Kate Greenaway's Partridge Family Collection.

FLEATS, BLAZERS, elongated waistlines, and navy teamed with lots of white tell the fashion story for Spring. Kate Greenaway incorporates them all in this important ensemble and adds the Partridge medallion, a trademark of the Partridge Family Collection.
