

David Cassidy, the idol of the geography 8a set, knows his fame can't last forever, but he's got it all figured out for the future.

"The little kids who like me now will grow up, right with me," says David.

Saw David at a Marineland location where he was shooting some scenes for "The Partridge Family." During a break, he sauntered into the men's room. I happened to be in there myself at the time so know whereof I speak.

Within minutes, the big lavatory was filled with screaming kids, 90 per cent of them girls.

Being an idol of the young poses a serious health hazard.
