

CASSIDY READY TO GO

By MIRROR REPORTER

POP idol David Cassidy is expected to be fit enough to fly home to America today.

But he was still suffering from fatigue and flu yesterday, and a doctor told him to stay in bed until he leaves for Los Angeles. On Thursday the 22-year-old singer had to cancel plans for a lunch at the House of Commons, where he was to have been officially thanked for backing a "Keep Britain Tidy" campaign.
