

The David Cassidy quick cover-up . .

Pop star David Cassidy was smuggled into London today — without a fan in sight.

Wearing a resplendent white suit, he arrived at Heathrow Airport on a scheduled Jumbo Jet flight from New York and walked into a keep - it - quiet cover - up operation.

It was carried out so well that viewers watching top of the pops on television tonight will get the impression that David is in Germany.

A television crew interviewed him on the tarmac and filmed him miming to his latest record.

Then they got him to walk back up the aircraft steps as if he was only passing through Heathrow.

Cassidy was driven from the aircraft in the terminal manager's car.

How long will he be here and what will he be doing? "I don't know," said a member of his entourage.
