

Wham, WHAM!

Wham!, the suntanned 21-year-old British duo who just last week had Top 5 hits in both Britain and America, premiered their new album "Make It Big" at a $12,500 wingding in London's posh Xenon club where the champers flowed and pop celebrities sweated under laser lights. Among George Michael and Andrew Ridgeley's guests: Prince Andrew's old girlfriend Koo Stark, ex-Kagagoogoo member Limahl, Martin Kemp of Spandau Ballet, Captain Sensible, Jeffrey Daniel of Shalimar, Mike Monroe of Hanoi Rocks and, lo and behold, ex-Partridge Family singer David Cassidy looking nowhere near his 34 years in skintight black toreador pants (gasp!) and abbreviated vest
