David Cassidy keeps the comebacks coming

That David Cassidy, what a card. The former '70s teen sex symbol of the Partridge Family has been trying to launch a comeback. Nothing much has worked, so he has resorted to Plan B: the old write-an-autobiography trick. Hence C'mon, Get Happy . . . Fear and Loathing on the Partridge Family Bus. It's filled with profound insights. For example, he:

• Claims responsibility for the '70s puka-shell craze, says US mag. "I'd strung together some shells in Hawaii one time, and suddenly countless teens would decide they had to have necklaces like that."

Says groupie-to-the-stars Barbara the Butter Queen checked him out once and cooed, "Wow, you've got it all over Mick Jagger."

sexual encounter with co-star and then-brunet Susan Dey (now blond and recently of L.A. Law). "Sexually, I never had that hunger for her. Susan lacked the slutty aspect of a female that I found so attractive."